

PATRIZIA Euro City Residential Fund I

Fund Concept

The concept implies the construction of a residential portfolio in European cities under the condition of risk diversification in order to generate sustainable, high returns.

Profound market research, the high diversification potential of local real estate markets and the integration of the entire PATRIZIA competence center offer a significant improvement of the risk-return-profile compared to commercial investments.

Strategy

- The residential investment environment and favorable economic prospects, due to a decrease of building activities over the last ten years, are rated positively on a medium- / long-term.
- A balanced portfolio mix with focus on target regions which excel because of their demographic development and their purchasing power underpin the stability of the fund performance.
- There are various exit options regarding the fund. Portfolio sales to institutional investors are possible as well as the sale of single units to private and institutional buyers.

Research – Facts and Figures

- Evaluation criteria for the entire portfolio are purchasing power and demographic development
- Criteria for the microeconomic property selection are:
  - Purchasing power, unemployment rate, demographic development, social structure, vacancy rate, structural economic risks
  - Real estate driven criteria of the regions are:
  - Development of rents, rent forecasts, supply-demand situation
